CANADA’S FORESTS: Diverse Outdoor Classrooms

National Forest Week 2019 explores the endless learning opportunities that Canada’s forests provide.

Everyone is connected to the forest. The social, economic, and environmental value of sustainably managed forests helps grow resilient communities. Getting outdoors to learn and explore benefits individual health and expands collective forest education, improving the wellbeing of all Canadians.