

ONLINE WEBINAR

LOCATING BIRD NESTS IN THE URBAN ENVIRONMENT

What: A webinar introducing you to locating birds' nests in the urban environment, helping make your community more bird friendly.

Who should attend: Anyone who provides outdoor urban environment services where development may destroy breeding bird nests.

When: March 3, 2022
12 pm to 2 pm (ET) – hosted virtually

Cost: $25 per participant

Register here:
www.cif-ifc.org/events/locating-bird-nests-in-the-urban-environment

Speaker:
Kandyd Szuba, PhD.
R.P.F. (ret.)

Kandyd has a long association with teaching, policy development, and working with forest workers in Ontario to recognize and enhance the positive impacts forest operations can have on the natural environment, and to help to prevent or minimize negative impacts. She has been recognised in Maclean's magazine annual review of Canadian universities as a top teacher. Kandyd will help you to see your outdoor working environment in a new way – as habitat for birds.

