Integrating Wildland Fire Risk in Forest Management Planning

Who should attend?

Practitioners interested in expanding their understanding of wildfire and learning how to account for fire in their management of forest lands to sustain resilient forests, industries and communities.

What topics will be covered?

A diverse lineup of speakers from government and academia will be sharing their expertise on:

- Wildfire and climate change
- FireSmart and the wildland urban interface (WUI)
- Fire risk assessment at community and landscape scales
- Fuel management and silvicultural strategies for reducing fire risk
- First Nations fire management
- Fire, caribou and protected areas

Special Guest Speaker – Bob Keane, Supervisory Research Ecologist and wildland fuel science specialist with the US Forest Service
